

A-T Solutions Acquires Accelligence

Anti- and counter-terrorism company partners with intelligence services firm to offer customers a full continuum of mission-focused global security solutions

Fredericksburg, Va. – June 1, 2009 – A-T Solutions, Inc., a world-class, industry-leading anti- and counter-terrorism solutions company based in Fredericksburg, Va., has acquired Accelligence LLC, a Vienna, Va.-based firm providing intelligence and mission-focused solutions to organizations within the U.S. Government and the Intelligence Community.

“We are very excited to embark on this new partnership,” said Ken Falke, A-T Solutions CEO. “By combining the experience, expertise and capabilities of A-T Solutions and Accelligence, each company is now better positioned to provide the highest levels of mission-critical support and to offer the full continuum of global security offerings to our customers.”

As a result of the acquisition, Accelligence will now be a wholly-owned subsidiary of A-T Solutions, which provides integrated intelligence, assessments, exercises, training, education and anti- and counter-terrorism technology solutions. Accelligence provides operational, technical, analytical, instructional and commercial operations support to the Intelligence Community. Together, the companies will expand their mission to offer a full continuum of strategic, operational, technical and tactical services around the globe.

“This is a positive growth opportunity for both companies,” said Danielle O. Saunders, Accelligence president. “We look forward to integrating our specialized skills and services with those of A-T Solutions and to leveraging our combined talents to better serve our customers and to support a safer and more secure world.”
